

How to Meet the Standard for Self-Assessment against the PSI Core Competency Framework

Why do I have to submit a CPD cycle created following self-assessment against the Core Competency Framework?

The PSI (Continual Professional Development) Rules 2015 (S.I. No. 553/2015) require that pharmacists regularly self-assess against the Core Competency Framework for Pharmacists. One of the ePortfolio Review standards for 2022/23 requires that at least one cycle is created and submitted following self-reflection against Core Competency Framework for Pharmacists. This enables pharmacists to demonstrate that they are meeting the requirements set out in the legislation.

Domain	Competency

How do I meet this standard?

To meet this standard, the ePortfolio extract you submit must contain at least one cycle created following self-reflection against Core Competency Framework in the current year, i.e. 2022 (or in 2023 up until the end of the submission period).

How do I create a cycle which demonstrates that I have self-assessed against the PSI Core Competency Framework in the current year?

These are the two different ways that you can submit a cycle that demonstrates that you have self-assessed against the PSI Core Competency Framework in the current year:

1. By choosing the appropriate option from the checkboxes listed under the Self-Appraisal stage of the relevant cycle
2. By using the Core Competency Self-Assessment Tool (CCSAT)

Option One: Identify a learning or development need following a self-assessment against the Core Competency Framework

One way to meet this standard is to indicate in the Self-Appraisal stage of a CPD cycle within your ePortfolio that you identified this particular learning or development need following your own self-assessment against the Core Competency Framework in the current year.

To do this, submit a CPD cycle that starts at Self-Appraisal stage ensuring that the "Completing self-assessment against the Core Competency Framework" checkbox is ticked 1 AND that you have described how you identified this learning or development need in the text box provided for the Self-Appraisal stage. Please note that this cycle must be created in the current year (i.e. 2022 or 2023 up until the end of the submission period).

Option Two: Use the Core Competency Self-Assessment Tool (CCSAT)

The Core Competency Self – Assessment tool (CCSAT) is designed to help pharmacists identify competencies which they can develop as part of their continued professional development (CPD). When you complete your self-assessment using the CCSAT, the system generates five suggested competencies which you can export to your Open cycles folder in your ePortfolio.

NOTE: There are additional how-to guides on CCSAT, including how to use it and how to export CCSAT generated cycles to your ePortfolio on the ePortfolio Support page.

Once they appear in your Open cycles folder, they are tagged as originating from CCF. To meet this standard, simply progress one of these CCSAT generated cycles to completion and submit it as part of your extract. Please note to meet the standards for the 2022/23 ePortfolio Review the CCSAT generated cycle you submit must be created in the current year (i.e. 2022 or 2023 up until the end of the submission period). Check the cycle creation date to ensure the cycle has been created in the current year.

How can I identify cycles which meet the CCF standard in my ePortfolio?

You can identify cycles which meet the CCF standard within the open cycles (as above) and in the completed cycles section of your ePortfolio. To meet the standard you should select a cycle which has a cycle type CCF 1 which was also created 2 in the current year (i.e. 2022 or 2023 up until the end of the submission period).

How will I know if I have met the standard for cycles created following self-assessment against the PSI Core Competency Framework?

Whichever of the above options you choose, you should use the Ready Reckoner to check that the cycle you intend to submit meets the standard. If you have met the standard for self-assessing against the Core Competency Framework, a green light will appear for this standard on the Ready Reckoner 1.
